Dear Tom:

This letter serves to further extend the expiration date of the current CWA agreement that was originally scheduled to expire on September 30, 2007 and we had previously extended until October 31, 2007. We will extend the current agreement until November 30, 2007 and believe this serves as adequate time to meet and discuss proposals and attempt to reach an agreement.

During our last meeting we had discussed meeting on October 26, 27 and/or 28th, but could not agree to a location and therefore never finalized the meeting schedule. I understand that Paul Buckley tried to reach you on your cell phone during the evening of October 25 and during the morning of October 26, but was unsuccessful and has not received a return phone call from you. Thus it is logistically difficult for us to meet on any of the days we discussed during our last meeting.

We will be available to meet with you and your committee in Jefferson City on Thursday, November 1st and Friday, November 2nd. Please contact me and confirm whether you intend to meet with us on those days.

Sincerely,
